

The social make-up of the UK is changing slowly but dramatically

Independent schools are not keeping pace with this social change

Independent school rolls as a proportion of social class I&2 children in England & Wales

The long view to 2030 suggests a new range of educational opportunities

